

Exquisite Elegance & Glorious 'Grace'
By Andrew Rudder

In an entertainment industry saturated with dripping concupiscence and moist with the lewd images of scantily dressed women lured by the stupefying rhythm of men's sexual desires, there are still women like Grace whose artistic pictures are imbued with such enrapturing exquisite elegance and comely class that accentuate the glorious grace of her fine flowerlike femininity and uphold her dignity.

Born and raised in Toronto, Ontario Canada this amazing Grace burst out onto the scene to take the modeling industry by storm on her own, and blessed the world with the humble artistic expressions manifested in her graceful poses like an unexpected windfall. Ever since the inception of her professional modeling career and her first step into the limelight, Grace's strong sense of professionalism, splendid sophistication, sultry style and an indomitable drive to succeed that together have made her one of the most sought after models in the GTA, and has left the fashion world clamouring to capture her inimitable poignant beauty. With all of the delicacy and resonating beauty of a budding rose, she has such a wide breath of view and the emotional range of an actress that she can be still in the midst of activity and vibrantly alive in repose, while looking good in the comfort of her own sensuously smooth skin or in the comfort of a fashion designer's in vogue clothes.

Whether Grace is featured on a popular website, walking down the catwalk for a renowned fashion designer, she always comes to each project with a strong focus, a sense of professionalism, class & enthusiasm, and a desire to do whatever it takes to make the finished product as perfect as it could be.

Grace has lissomely walked along the runway for some great designers and companies such as Suzette's popular lingerie store "Vinacao," and the prestigious family run lingerie company "Coquette International Inc.". She made a cameo appearance in Canadian singer Massari's music video "Rush the Floor," and was up, close and personal with an intimate one on one fully clothed interview with "Naked News". She has exponentially increased the hits to the websites that she has been on as a featured model, such as the pre-eminent new online magazine called Pulp at pulpmag.net, as well as souljoint.com and ninemodels.com. Her boundless talent has been used to spruce up a lot of events as a promo model ranging from Grand Prix's Grand Tuner Auto Expo, Run Bets' runbets.net, and Double XL Magazine to the Bike & Car Blocko Show.

Grace has never been the type of woman to settle for the same sort of work for a long time, so with a desire for change she constantly wants to challenge herself and try to learn something new so she can continue to grow as a person and have no regrets in life when she looks back on what she has done. So in an effort to prove to the world that her talent transcends far beyond the realm of being a model, Grace is expanding her horizons and beginning to perfect the craft of acting; and with her background in drama throughout school, her dedication and focus, and her quirky personality she will surely fit in. This positive approach to taking on new challenges in life that has enabled her to continually grow as a strong, independent-minded beautiful young woman is bolstered by a proactive philosophy in life of believing that tomorrow will always bring brighter and better days; which is manifested in the positive attitude she has.

So what is next for Grace as her star continues to shine perennially bright in the night sky, and she leaves her indelible footprints on the sands of time that will not be easily washed away. Well aside from her official website (www.2gurly4u.com) with new & exciting modeling projects and constantly changing the look of it for her growing number of fans, she'd like to have a family one day. Until that eventful day rest assured that Grace will always artistically express herself & never repress herself, and continue to take her promising young career to the next plateau within this competitive modeling industry, until she becomes a master in the art of modeling and acting like a marvelous maestro; for rest assured that Grace is truly destined for great success in the years to come.
